SHRI SUBRAMANIAN SWAMY: In this connection the Prime Minister went to Namibia.

SHRI ANAND SHARMA: I am very happy to hear from the hon. Minister that the Government will not accept unwarranted interference as far as our internal policies are concerned and linking that with the developmental assistance. But, Sir, the meagre developmental assistance which has been offered to India last year and the year before that, there has been a mischief in the USA and the people behind the mischief happen to be the forces which are working against the interests of this country. In the U.S. Congress for two successive years resolutions have been adopted linking the developmental assistance through India with internal issues and problems. The assistance which was offered was with a rider. The rider was the question of human rights, particularly in the province of Punjab. What has been the stand of the Government, (a) whether the Government will accept any developmental assistance with such riders, and (b) whether the amount of assistance being given to Pakistan, particularly the military assistance...and also the various statements made in this regard and, above all, the use of Super 301, to which the Finance Minister also made a reference, are considered by the Government as unfriendly acts or as friendly acts by the United States of America and as an impediment in the improvement of relations between the two countries.

PROF. MADHU DANDAVATE: Sir, it has been the accepted national policy of the Government that whenever we accept aid, we do not accept it with any strings. There is no question of getting any assistance from the U.S.A., with any riders. We have not accepted it and we will never accept it in the future also.
